(Our source for specific results MYLAPS.com had a server problem this week and heat race and qualifying were not made available right up until the time of this publication. We are sorry for the delay.)

Roseville Ca- Shannon Mansch led every lap on her way to victory last Saturday night, May 23rd, at The All American Speedway.

Bobby Hodges made the right adjustments between races and battled his way to a win in Twin 44 #2.

Though twenty cars took the green flag in Race #1, it was obvious from the start that Mansch had the dominant car.

Bobby Hodges clicked off some of his fastest lap times with the race winding down but try as he might, he could not catch Mansch. She was masterful on this night. Hodges would have to settle for second. Point's leader Jason Romero was solid in his third place effort. John Moore battled his way to a fourth place run. Ron Chunn proved once again that he is a contender, rounding out the top five.

Below are the results and points earned for the Late Model Twin 44 Magnum Race #1:

Late Model Twin 44 Magnum Race #2

Bobby Hodges was just a tick off in Race #1 but found the right adjustment to drive his #88 car to victory in Race #2. Hodges was brilliant holding off the field as he got by the slower traffic. Though Hodges has finished second on many occasions, the win is his career first.

Below are the results from Race #2 and points accrued:

- 1 - 88 Bobby Hodges 44
- 2 - 27 John Moore 38

Modifieds

Luke Kaper grabbed his first race ever in a Modified. Kaper proved that he can be a contender on any given night. Sixteen year old Rookie Jessica Brunelli had her best finish to date coming home second. Can a win be far away? The "Speed Swede" Martin Hansen of Sweden driving for Ron Sutton crossed the line third for his best finish. Hansen told me they've been taking advantage of practice days at the Speedway. Nick Lyons was strong early and brought home a fourth place finish. Les Friend was solid coming home fifth. Point's leader Jarred Beddow lost some ground to the field in the standings with his tenth place finish. His lead is now 14 over Lyons.

Street Stocks

Seventeen cars took the flag in this one. Kevin Owens drove the race of his life to win the Main Event for the division. Owens battled it out with Christopher Lambert lap after lap for most of the race and in the end came out victorious. Hats off to Lambert for racing Owens cleanly and bringing home a second place finish. Lambert is the sole point's leader for the Street Stock Championship. His lead is 12 over Kevin Owens.

Bombers

Mike Kelly brought the car to beat in this feature. Mike shares the points lead for the Bombers with his co-driver and wife Dana. Cody Rickard is now a force in the division. His second place finish moves him up to fourth in the point's race to The Championship. Eric Bocksberger has struggled in the early part of the season but week by week is charging towards the front. His third place finish puts him third in the points. Troy Clapham had a strong run coming home fourth. Richard Perez quietly battled to finish fifth.
